

THURSDAY 23		FRIDAY 24		SATURDAY 25
08:45-09:00	CONFERENCE OPENING (Nuria Yáñez-Bouza)
09.00-10.00	PLENARY: JOAN C. BEAL (University of Sheffield) Poetry's for Kings: prescriptivism and resistance in English poetry (Chair: Nuria Yáñez-Bouza)	09.00-10.00	PLENARY: KATE BURRIDGE (Monash University) Prescriptivism – a matter of taboo? (Chair: Nuria Yáñez-Bouza)
10.00-10.15	BREAK	10.00-10.15	BREAK	SESSION: ORTHOGRAPHY (Chair: Rita Queiroz de Barros)
SESSION: PRESCRIPTIVISM IN LITERATURE I (Chair: Linda Pillière)		SESSION: NEW PERSPECTIVES I (Chair: Eline Lismont)		09.30-10.00	Dimitrios Meletis (Zurich) Literacy and self-prescriptivism: a metapragmatic discourse analysis of attitudes towards orthographic regulation
10.15-10.45	Ingrid Tieken-Boon van Ostade (Leiden) Breaking the who/whom rule: the final taboo?	10.15-10.45	Machteld de Vos & Marten van der Meulen (Radboud, INT) Suppressed no more: prescriptivism and the appreciation of optional variability	10.00-10.30	Susanna Karlsson (Gothenburg) & Lena Lind Palicki (Stockholm) Maintaining symbolic power through language shaming – A case-study of a spelling reform
10.45-11.15	Jane Hodson (Sheffield) The significance of stance in literary representations of prescriptive judgements	10.45-11.15	Heimir F. Viðarsson (University of Iceland) Towards modelling past and present effects of prescriptivism in Icelandic 19th- and 21st-century student essays	10.30-11.00	Marlena Jakobs (Berlin) Orthographies in conflict – Low German writing systems as counteractions to dominant nationalist ideas in the 19th century
11.15-11.30	BREAK	11.15-11.30	BREAK	11.00-11.30	BREAK

SESSION: PRESCRIPTIVISM IN LITERATURE II (Chair: Nuria Calvo-Cortés)		SESSION: NEW PERSPECTIVES II (Chair: Spiros Moschonas)		SESSION: DIGITAL MEDIA (Chair: Dolores González-Álvarez)
11.30-12.00	Rita Queiroz de Barros (Lisboa) On “mens” and “pickney(s)” : linguistic prescriptivism in Naipaul’s “Love, love, love, alone” and Zadie Smith’s White Teeth	11.30-12.00	Silvia Ballarè & Emanuele Miola (Bologna) Old prescriptive standard vs neo-standard: a look at the written Italian of university students	11.30-12.00	Carmen Ebner (Leiden) “Your not my type” : effects of stigmatized linguistic variation in online dating
12.00-12.30	Magdalena Cislerova (Charles) “Cahstle, (...) not kehstle” : reflections of prescriptivism in Australian literature	12.00-12.30	Michael Nguyen & Anna Sofie Hartling (Dansk Sprognævn) Problematic prescriptivist word class categorization in Danish	12.00-12.30	Spiros Moschonas, Costas Mourlas & Thodoris Paraskevas (Athens) Prescriptivism and variation: the case of the Greek word for ‘coronavirus’
12.30-14.00	LUNCH BREAK	12.30-14.00	LUNCH BREAK	12.30-13.00	Theresa Heyd & Morana Lukač (Greifswald) The making of linguistic authority in the postdigital age
SESSION: LATE MODERN ENGLISH I (Chair: Jane Hodson)		SESSION: LETTER WRITING (Chair: Beth Malory)		SESSION: LANGUAGE PROFESSIONALS (Chair: Viktorija Kostadinova)
14.00-14.30	Marco Wiemann (Kiel) “To R a sound that’s rough doth must obtain, As rage, rife, wretched, radish, rural, rain” – Attitudes towards pronunciation in 19th-century grammar writing	14.00-14.30	Nuria Calvo-Cortés (Madrid) “And, your petitioner, as in duty bound, shall ever pray” – Prescriptive or descriptive letter-writing manuals in Late Modern England: a promise with a clue	14.30-15.00	Linda Pillière (Aix-Marseille) Curbing creativity? The influence of copyeditors on contemporary fiction
14.30-15.00	Massimo Sturiale (Catania-Ragusa) Early twentieth-century pedagogical prescriptivism: the BBC and the press	14.30-15.00	Carolina Amador-Moreno (Bergen, Extremadura) & Nancy E. Ávila-Ledesma (Extremadura) “Everyone here speaks well” : metalinguistic awareness and language attitudes in Irish emigrants’ letters	15.00-15.30	Morana Lukač (Greifswald) & Adrian Stenton (Leiden) What guides copy-editors’ decisions? From grammatical to sociolinguistic determinants
15.00-15.15	BREAK	15.00-15.15	BREAK	(See below)

SESSION: LATE MODERN ENGLISH II (Chair: María E. Rodríguez-Gil)		SESSION: VARIETIES OF ENGLISH (I) (Chair: Carmen Ebner)		SESSION: LANGUAGE PROFESSIONALS (continued, Chair: Viktorija Kostadinova)
15.15-15.45	Beth Malory (Lancaster) Pinpointing prescriptive impact: using change point analysis for the study of prescriptivism at the idiolectal level	15.15-15.45	Viktorija Kostadinova (Amsterdam) 150 years of ideas about language: the aims of metalinguistic works in American English	15.30-16.00	Anja Wanner (Wisconsin-Madison) Bad grammar and metalinguistic awareness
15.45-16.15	James Hyett & Carol Percy (Toronto) Female characters as comic prescriptivists? Eighteenth-century you was	15.45-16.15	Marta Pacheco-Franco (Málaga) Assessing prescriptivism: on the standardisation of the orthographic variants -our/-or, -er/-re and -ce/-se in Modern English
16.15-16.30	BREAK	16.15-16.30	BREAK	16.00-16.30	BREAK
ROUND TABLE: METHODS AND APPROACHES IN DETERMINING NORMATIVE SUCCESS		SESSION: VARIETIES OF ENGLISH (II) (Chair: María Esther Rodríguez-Gil)		PLENARY: DON CHAPMAN (Brigham Young University) 'Not just a few dozen trouble spots': tallying the rules in English usage guides (Chair: María E. Rodríguez-Gil)
16.30-18.00	Organisers: Eline Lismont (VUB, Leiden) & Machteld de Vos (Radboud, INT) Participants: Anita Auer (Lausanne) Andreas Krogull (Leiden) Shana Poplack (Ottawa)	16.30-17.00	Lucía Loureiro-Porto (Balearic Islands) Prescriptivism in outer-circle varieties of English: a view from Hong Kong English
		17.00-17.30	Claudia Lange (Dresden), Kranti Doibale (Mumbai) & Sachin Labade (Mumbai) Indian English usage in the 21st century: enduring colonial norms and emerging local standards
		17.30-18.00	Alyssa Severin (Macquarie, New England) & Carmen Ebner (Leiden) "It is still all icky and American": investigating British and Australian English speakers' attitudes towards verb conversions	17.30-17.45	CONFERENCE CLOSING (Chair: Nuria Yáñez-Bouza & María E. Rodríguez-Gil)

